ANNOUNCEMENT.

We are authorized to announce JNO. BENTON, of Rockport precinct, as a candidate for the office of Assessor of this county, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Election August 1882.

PERSONAL.

Mr. R. P. Rowe has been quite sick for several days.
C. J. Yager, Lifebield, was in town Saturday and Sunday.
Ellis Ragsdale and family, of Whitesville, were visitors at our fair last week.
Miss Bessie Fitzhugh, of New York, was visiting relatives and friends here last week.
Dr. Tyler Griffin, who has been sick for several days past is still confined to his room.
We had the pleasure of a call from M. Roll, Esq., of Nelson, during the fair last week.
Mr. J. T. Benton, of South Carrollton, was visiting his family here Saturday and Sunday.
Capt. W. H. Sandusky, of Owensboro Junction, took in our fair. He seemed to enjoy himself.
Miss Minnie Lewis, one of Hardin county's most interesting young ladies, was a visitor at our fair last week, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Morton.
Creed Burton, Esq., of Whitesville, was a visitor at our fair last week. We had the pleasure of a call from him.
Butler Combs, Esq., of Hopkinsville, was at our fair last week, the guest of his sister, Mrs. J. S. Vaught.
Mrs. J. E. Yager and sons, Ed and Bert, of Owensboro, were visiting friends here during the fair last week.
Mr. F. M. Joplin and family, of Elizabethtown, were present during our fair, the guests of Mrs. J. L. Collins.
T. W. Rice and wife, of Carmi, Ill., were visitors at our fair, the guests of the family of A. P. Hudson and wife.
Messrs. James Kenton and H. Harrett, of Whitesville, cousins of the writer, were in attendance at our fair last week.
Miss Katie Hardwick left Sunday morning for Calhoun to attend the fair at that place. She will be the guest of Miss Lucy Landrum.
Misses Mittle Carden, Lulu Walker and Sallie Withers, accompanied by Messrs. Will Withers and Willie Walker called to see us last week.
Mr. F. W. Griffin, who has been in Elizabethtown for some time past, came down last week and took in our fair. He returned Sunday evening.
Mr. Lewis Johnson and wife, of Auburn, are in town. They came to see Frank Smith, Mrs. Johnson's nephew, who was shot and seriously wounded during the fair.
Miss Irene Eaves, who has been visiting the families of Mrs. Bettie Rowe and Dr. J. T. Miller for the past week, returned to her home in Sacramento yesterday morning.

Misses Linnie Duke, Belle Anthony, Madrox, Rockport, and Misses Lucy and Fannie Miller, of No. One, were the guests of the family of Thos. S. Duke at the fair last week.

Miss Mary E. Humphrey, of Island Station, Miss Clara Patterson, of Point Pleasant, and J. A. Rowe and wife, of McLean county, were visitors at our fair, the guests of the families of R. P. and J. E. Rowe.

Misses Nellie Gates and Lucy Landrum, of Calhoun, were visitors at our fair last week—the former the guest of the family of Hon. E. Dudley Walker and the latter the guest of the family of Wm. Hardwick.

Judge J. P. Coleman, of Bowling Green, mail agent of the Green and Warren Rivers Navigation Company, was in town during our fair. We had the pleasure of a call from him while here.

Hon. E. Dudley Walker, of Hartford, President of the Ohio county A. and M. Association, came over last week to attend the fair. He was accompanied by Miss Mary Pendleton and his daughter, Miss Lizzie, two of the brightest and most attractive young ladies who attended the fair.—Hopkinsville South Kentuckian.

—Plaid flannels, nice and cheap, at Anderson's Bazaar.

—Mr. J. T. Benton has added a new roof to his residence.

—White sewing machines; the best in America, at Anderson's Bazaar.

—The latest line of Hosiery, Suspenders, Shirts, Gents' Underwear and Hats in town will be received at Lou Hill's new store this week.

—Ball's Digestive Salt (patented) is a combination of Pure Pepsin and best English Salt, invaluable to all those who suffer from dyspeptic tendencies, of which it is the only certain cure. See advertisement.

—A lady remarked she "could not find anything she wished and was freed from any distress after eating," by merely using Ball's Digestive Salt at meals, instead of ordinary table salt. 25 cents will get it. See advertisement.

—Some lady of this city should take the agency for the popular and useful book, "Practical Housekeeper," issued by the Buckeye Publishing Co., Minneapolis, Minn. It sells rapidly on it merits. Address the publishers for terms.

—We have much pleasure in recommending Therman to our readers as an absolute cure for malaria. The manufacturer's name alone is a guarantee of its merit. It sells at 25 cents per box. For particulars see advertisement. For sale by Thomas & Kimbley, Hartford, Ky.

—Andrew Williams and E. R. Ashby are sole agents for Kentucky for the Harris & Smith Self-extinguishing Non-explosive Safety Lamp. Andrew Williams will canvass the eastern portion of the State. For territory or county rights address them at Hartford, Ky.

—When thinking of visiting Louisville there should be one thing made up in your mind, and that is that you will stop at the Standford Hotel. Everything is new and nice about the house, and is kept in the best of order. No better table is set anywhere; no better and more polite attendants can be found anywhere, and the fare is only $2 per day. Be sure to go to the Standford.

—The medicines of Dundas Dick & Co. are unexcelled for elegance, purity, and reliability. Their Seditious Seditious Powders are as pleasant as lemonade. Their soft capsules are world famous. See advertisement. For sale by Thomas & Kimbley, druggists, Hartford, Ky.

—Mr. John Blair, living near Buford, this county, has left with us a sample of his white Burley tobacco, grown by him this year. The sample is very fine, and well cured for the time of year, being cut on the 12th of August. A few thousand pounds like the sample would be a little fortune to him.

—The School Board have built a fence around the college building.

—Mr. Wayne Griffin has placed a new shingle roof on his dwelling.

—For man it has no equal; for beast it is not excelled. What? Kendall's Spavin Cure.

—Ladies, misses' and children's merino underwear; an immense stock at Anderson's Bazaar.

—Messrs. George Klein & Bro., and E. Small, merchants, have had new roofs put on their business houses.

—Violin outfits cheap. Send for circular and read advertisement of C. W. Story, 25 Central street, Boston, Mass.

—Mrs. Lucy Edson has purchased of Capt. Sam K. Cox the brick residence occupied by E. R. Murrell and known as the seminary building.

—"Billie Taylor" and "Chess" his cats are immense. Young man, you ought to have one. You can get them at Anderson's Bazaar. They are the latest out.

—Dr. Casper recommends Kendall's Spavin Cure in the highest terms, and thousands of eminent physicians do the same. See advertisement.

—Victims to constipation and its untold miseries can keep in good condition, by a moderate use of Ayer's Pills.

—The surest, safest and most reliable cathartic.

—Mr. A. Castleman, of Casey county, was here during our fair. He had his 3-year-old son, Harry, on exhibition, during the fair, who is the largest child of his age living, weighing 139 pounds.

—Capt. Sam'l M. Gains, Col. T. C. Jones and Hon. Virgil Hewitt, candidates for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, were in town last week presenting their respective claims to the good people of our county.

—We regret to learn of the death of Edgar, infant son of Morris Wilson, Esq., of Fordville, which occurred of capillary bronchitis on the 13th inst. The parents have our sympathy. Obituary next week.

—We regret to chronicle the death of the little two-year-old son of Henry Weinsheimer, Esq., of diphtheria, which occurred Saturday at noon. He was interred on Sunday morning. The family have our sympathy in this their bereavement.

—The proprietors of Kendall's Spavin Cure have hundreds of letters on file speaking in the highest terms of the benefits derived from its use. When you find one case where it has failed to give relief, there are hundreds where it has proved a success. Read advertisement.

—We had the pleasure of meeting Hon. W. C. Owens, of Scott county, candidate for Speaker of the House. Mr. Owens has served two terms in the Legislature, and is the Representative elect for the third term. This speaks very highly of him as a faithful representative.

—We tender thanks to Messrs. J. W. Roach, W. M. Rawls, Evansville, O. W. Gates and A. Y. Cravens, Calhoun, E. W. Hester, Lafayette, and W. A. Wickliffe, Greenville, for the pleasure of entering their names on our honor roll. We assure them that their little club is appreciated.

—Married—At the residence of the bride's father, James Cate, Esq., in Runsey, Ky., Thursday morning, Oct. 13th, 1881, by Dr. J. B. Cottrell, Dr. L. A. King and Miss Fannie Cate. They were attended by Mr. G. W. Gates, of Calhoun, and Miss Dentie Phipps, of Hartford. The happy couple left immediately for Louisville and Cincinnati. We were kindly remembered on the occasion.

—"One, two—buckle my shoe; three, four—open the door," and walk right to J. Winter & Co.'s clothing emporium for men and boys, corner of Third and Market streets, Louisville, Ky., and suit yourself to anything you wish to buy in the way of gent's furnishing goods, dress suits or business suits, and you will never go elsewhere to make purchases. Their customers are like the seasons—they come and go only to come again.

Turkies for school girls at Anderson's Bazaar.
—Turkies for school boys at Anderson's Bazaar.
—See the new hats for gents at Anderson's Bazaar.
—Umbrellas for little girls, at Anderson's Bazaar.
—Billie Taylor hats—young man have you seen them?—at Anderson's Bazaar.
—Born—To the wife of B. N. Patterson, near Cronwell, Friday, October 14th, 1881, a daughter.
—"Lindsey's Blood Searcher"—the great medicine for fever and ague, malaria, and all blood poison. Don't fail to use it.
—Capt. Henry McHenry, of this place, left last week to attend the Yorktown Centennial Celebration. We wish him a pleasant trip.
—It is simply marvelous how quickly constipation, biliousness, sick headache, fever and ague, and malaria, are cured by "Sellers' Liver Pills."

—The list of premiums awarded at the fair was furnished us so late that we necessarily had to let them go over till next issue. It will appear next week in full.

—Mrs. James H. Kimmel, who has been quite sick for about two weeks with typhoid, is still very sick, but hopes are entertained of her recovery.

—Wanted—Every person knowing themselves indebted to me to call at once and pay their account. I need the money. Respectfully, GROSS WILLIAMS.

—A large number of visitors attended our fair, whom we had not the pleasure of meeting or learning their names or residences. Such persons will pardon us for not being able to make personal mention of them.

—Our thanks are due Mr. and Mrs. Henry Paynter for an invitation to attend the marriage of their daughter, Miss Zella, to Mr. W. R. Logan. Ceremony at the Methodist Church, Salem, Ind., this morning at 8 o'clock.

—A. P. Hudson, who has been suffering for many months from a stroke of paralysis, is able to be out by the assistance of friends. He will probably recover sufficiently so as to go on crutches, but will never be able to walk without them.

—In the exhibition of needle work, during the fair last week, a "splasher," worked by Miss Marion T. Harrison, of Shelbyville, Ky., and a lamp mat, by Miss Lena Allen, of the same place, attracted a great deal of attention, and each was awarded first premiums.

—Master Frank Joplin, of Elizabethtown, took the premium in the boys' riding ring, on Friday evening. The little boys rode again on Saturday evening, and Master Wes. Carter, son of Jas. A. Carter, of this place, took the first premium.

—We invite the attention of our readers to the announcement of John Benton, of Rockport precinct, for the office of Assessor of Ohio county. This is the first announcement for any office so far. Mr. Benton is announced subject to the action of the Democratic party.

—Miss Mollie Lawton, of Rockport, will lecture at Court Hall to-night, on the subject of Cultivation and Development of the Mind. Miss Lawton has just made her debut as a lecturer. She has a list of appointments for other towns which appears in this issue.

—Henry Harrison, Esq., traveling salesman for the firm of Thixton & Slaughter, wholesale whiskey dealers, Owensboro, was married last Monday evening to Miss Lena Ingram, of Ashbyburg. They left Tuesday morning for a tour to the Eastern cities. We tender thanks for an invitation to be present.

—The novelty race on Saturday evening was very exciting. This was a special premium offered by the company, in which there were six entries. The race was a mile heat—the premium of $10 to be awarded by quarters. C. J. Cecil, of Hardin county, won the two first quarters, and Kate May of Owensboro, won the two last quarters.

—Persons owing this office money in any sum from fifty cents up are hereby requested to come forward and settle at once. We need money and must have it in some way or other, and can't get it save from those owing us. Come right along and settle and make us happy as well as yourself. We mean this for you, dear reader, if you owe us a cent for anything.

Hon. S. H. Yoder's Position.
A representative man's opinion on other than political matters is often of great use to his constituency. The Hon. S. H. Yoder, of Globe Mills, Pa., has thus recorded his opinion on a subject of popular interest. "I have been selling St. Jacobs Oil for the last year. I have never heard a person speak of it except as a splendid medicine, and as the great specific for rheumatic affections, whether inflammatory, acute or chronic, swellings, sores, sprains, burns, wounds, etc. I sell more St. Jacobs Oil than of any other kind of liniment, and it gives universal satisfaction. I will always keep it on hand. The farmers say, that for man or beast, they find nothing to equal it."—Des Moines State Journal.

Public Auction.
I will offer for sale at public auction at my store at Hines' Mills, on Saturday 23d October 1881, my entire stock of goods, consisting of dry goods, clothing, dress goods, overcoats, boots and shoes, hats, caps, hardware, queensware, saddles, horse collars, &c., &c. I have a considerable variety of these goods which will positively be sold to the highest bidder on that day. Do not miss this opportunity to secure a bargain.
A. T. HINES.

To Accommodate the Public.
The proprietors of that immensely popular remedy, Kidney-Wort, in recognition of the claims of the public which has so liberally patronized them, have prepared a liquid preparation of that remedy for the special accommodation of those who from any reason dislike to prepare it for themselves. It is very concentrated and, as the dose is small, it is more easily taken by many. It has the same effectual action in all diseases of the kidneys, liver or bowels.

—Home and Farm.

DENTISTS.

Dr. Beeler, dentist, is at the Hartford House prepared to do all kinds of dental work. Artificial teeth, a specialty. Silver, gold and white fillings from $1 up. Old plates repaired. Teeth extracted without the use of gas or chloroform—a new process. Will go to residences on notice. Dr. Beeler is assisted by Dr. F. C. Sadtler. Have your work done at once.

The Hop at Court Hall.
The hop at Court Hall Friday night was well attended by the young ladies and gentlemen visiting the fair, as well as the beauty and fashion of our city. The music was furnished by the orchestra of the occasion. Notwithstanding the exceeding warmth of the evening, the festivities were protracted until a late hour. We were unable to describe the dresses worn by the young ladies, but each was so happy, and all were so fair. That night stole away, and dawn caught them there.

Hop at the Hartford House.
The guests of the Hartford House, among them Capt. Sam. Gains, Hopkinsville, Capt. Sandusky, Owensboro Junction, W. A. Wickliffe, Greenville, A. Y. Cravens and G. W. Gates, Calhoun, Jno. Mason, Jr., Cincinnati, J. W. Roach, W. M. Rawls, E. W. Hester, Evansville, all attending our fair, wishing to return the kindness shown them by the young gentlemen of town during the fair, gave a hop at the Hartford House on Saturday night. Although the occasion was impromptu, it was one of great enjoyment. The gayeties of the evening continued until midnight, when the happy throng returned, each to dream of pleasures past.

To Capt. Sandusky, W. A. Wickliffe and J. W. Roach special thanks are due for the part they took in one of the most pleasant parties ever given in Hartford.

Married, at Bada, Ohio county, Ky., Sunday, October 9, 1881, at 8 o'clock a. m., by Rev. J. A. Bennett, Mr. Luther Ward and Miss Mattie Bennett.

By the same, on same day, at 9 a. m., at the residence of Mrs. Stevens, Wm. Parks and Miss Ida B. S. Carson.

By the same, October 13, 1881, Mr. Clayton Stevens and Miss Minnie F. Tichenor.

The average age of the brides mentioned above is about thirteen years; that of the grooms about nineteen. Such a concatenation of juvenile connubial felicity occurs quite rarely, at least in these parts.

Public Lecture.
Miss Mollie Lawton, of Rockport, will lecture at Sacramento on Nov. 5th, on the subject of Temperance; South Carrollton Nov. 10th, on the subject of Cultivation and Development of the Mind; Calhoun Nov. 12th, on same subject; Livermore Nov. 14th, on same subject; Rockport 4th Saturday night in Nov., on the subject of Temperance.

The following statement of William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for it the attention of our readers. He says, "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the City Hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half dollar. I expended over a hundred dollars in doctors and medicines. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when, to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years.

I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with diseased lungs will be induced to take Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs and be convinced that consumption can be cured. I have taken two bottles, and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness. My cough has almost entirely disappeared, and I shall soon be able to go to work."

Reduced Rates.
The Paducah & Elizabethtown Railroad will sell from stations on line of road on Monday and Thursday of each week during the exposition, round-trip tickets to Louisville and return at one-third and one-fifth fare the round trip. Tickets good to return in ten days from date of sale.

Legal Blanks for Sale.
We have on hand a large supply of legal blanks of the most approved forms and are prepared to execute any that we may not have on the shortest notice. Our stock includes all the principal blanks used by county judges, county clerks, circuit clerks, sheriffs, police judges, magistrates, constables, marshals, etc., and will be sold at the lowest cash price. Call and examine our stock or send us your order for anything you need in this line.

Attention!
I must again request all persons indebted to me to give me a settlement of their accounts. I am in need of money, and unless attention is given this, I will be compelled to take more urgent measures. C. M. Pendleton has charge of my books.

Respectfully,
JOHN E. PENDLETON.

Robt. Matthews and Mary A. Morris, E. W. Fulkerson and Rosa E. Fulkerson, C. G. Taylor and Mary Sanders as the Death of J. Taylor Coffman.
Our entire community was shocked Tuesday morning on hearing of the death of the young man whose name stands at the head of this tribute to the memory and virtues of one universally respected and beloved, and whose untimely demise leaves a void in the heart of a devoted young wife, and in those of a large number of fond relatives and true friends which time, the great remedy for so many malaises, cannot fill.

J. Taylor Coffman was born November 20th, 1857, and, consequently, was twenty-three years, ten months and nineteen days old.

June 1st, 1881, he was married to Miss Maggie Mosely, daughter of Judge R. S. Mosely, of this place, and the sky of his life was spanned by the bright bow of hope and love, and there seemed to be nothing but happiness in store for the two youthful hearts which started on the journey with so many a heart-felt "God speed" from "loving friends."

But alas! the sky so bright is now dark with the shadow of death, and his child breath has taken away one of the brightest ornaments of the community in his brief life.

Mr. Coffman came to Hartford from his home at Island Station about October 1st on a visit to his wife's parents and was taken sick within a day or two after his arrival here. His disease was typhoid fever, which was thought to be of a mild type until Sunday evening last when he commenced to grow rapidly worse, and by Monday evening it was apparent to all that his life was ebbing away and that the tide would soon be out. At two o'clock yesterday morning his spirit took its flight leaving many an aching heart behind.

The funeral will take place from the residence of Judge R. S. Mosely this morning at nine o'clock, Dr. W. P. Bennett, of Island Station, officiating. The remains will be interred in the Hartford cemetery immediately after services.

The stricken family have our warmest sympathy in their sad bereavement.

The Newest Thing in Suicide.

The latest novelty in attempts at suicide comes, of course, from Paris. A workman, having quarreled with his wife, withdrew to his room, seized a poignard, the blade of which was ten centimetres long, took a hammer, and, putting the point of the poignard to the top of his head, drove the blade home with a blow. Instead of dropping dead, as one would suppose, the Frenchman, it is declared by the Siecle Medicale, experienced no unusual sensation, either mental or physical. He thereupon endeavored to extract the poignard, but, though he tugged hard, he tugged in vain. Doctors were sent for, who found themselves unable to extract the poignard. "The man," we read, "was ultimately taken to a workshop in the neighborhood, accompanied by the medical gentlemen, and here he was seated on the floor, held down in a sitting posture by two persons, whilst mechanical force was used to draw the weapon from the skull." This operation having been successfully performed, he was sent to St. Louis Hospital and kept there a week. He was then sent home to nurse, perchance, over some surer means of taking his own life than burying a poignard in his brain. Scientific men are racking their heads over the problem this singular case presents.

Newspaper Borrowers.

An exchange recently published a letter from a lady subscriber in which she complained bitterly of the annoyance she experienced from the habit her female neighbors had of constantly borrowing her paper. The exchange failed to advise her on the subject, and, as the matter is a serious one, we have ourselves looked about for some method of relief, and now think we can offer the suffering lady, and all others similarly situated, an adequate means of succor. Here is our plan: Let the lady immediately upon receiving her paper care, fully cut from it some item—it makes no particular difference what it is—most any item will do only let it be neatly and carefully removed from the paper. Then the following procedure will be sure to ensue: In a few moments the neighbor's boy will come after the paper—he will take it home—within three minutes he will emerge from the house, he will scold down street and very shortly return with a folded newspaper of the same date as the one just borrowed. By the time the clipped paper has circled round among the female borrowers, the street will be lively with hurrying boys, and the revenue of the newspaper will be materially increased. Not one woman among them would be able to sleep a wink without knowing just exactly what that cut-out item was. The next day the lady must pursue the same course, and similar results will surely follow. In an extremely obstinate neighborhood these proceedings have to be repeated three or four days, but no longer. By that time the lady will be able to read her paper in peace, and the newspaper finances will be the gainers through several new subscribers. The rules infallible where the borrowers are females, but it can't be vouched for in the case of men. There isn't that inherent curiosity to work upon, you know, and—perhaps we are getting a little too deep.

The Secret of Good Manners.

The secret of good manners is to forget one's own self altogether. The people of really fine breeding are the ones who never think of themselves, but only of the pleasure they can give to others. No adornment of beauty, or learning, or accomplishments, goes so far in its power to attract as the one gift of sympathy. In all French history no woman had a stronger fascination for whoever came within her reach than Madame Reanier. She was called beautiful; but her portrait, though it was of many fine charming women. And even when every attribute of person had long passed away, and she was an old, old woman, her way over the hearts of others was as powerful as ever. What was her secret? It was this one thing solely—her genuine and unaffected interest in the good and ill fortunes of her friends. Authors came to her and read her their books; painters came to her with their pictures; statesmen with their projects. She was sweet, simple and unconscious, as a rose is sweet. She really cared for the happiness and success of others, and they felt the genuineness of her sympathy. It surrounded her with immortal charm. Let any girl try Madame Reanier's experiment. Let her go into society thinking nothing of the admiration she may win, but everything of the happiness she can confer. It matters little whether her face is beautiful, or her toilette costly. Before the end of three months she will be a happy girl herself, for the world likes sunshine and sympathy, and turns to them as the flowers look in the sun of June.

Browbeating Witnesses.

The law is charitable. It presumes that all men will do their duty, and it holds every man innocent of an alleged crime until he has been proved guilty. Lawyers, on the contrary, are inclined to be uncharitable, especially toward witnesses who testify against their clients.

Though they have sworn "to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth," the opposing counsel usually takes it for granted that they will go as near committing perjury as their fears will permit. Doubtless, there is much to be said in justification of the lawyers' course. They see much of the prevarication of witnesses, and many attempts to conceal one fact, or to exaggerate another. It is not strange, therefore, that they should doubt the truthfulness of any witness, when interested in a cause—and a majority of witnesses are partisans.

Their skepticism is often made offensively prominent in a cross-examination.

The lawyer's manner says: "You have sworn to a lie and I know it, and you shall know it, too, before I'm done with you."

Then he puts a series of questions for the purpose of disconcerting the witness, so that he may contradict himself and thus spoil his evidence. If the questions fail to effect the purpose, then they are reinforced by browbeating. Daniel Webster once tried this method upon a clergyman's wife, Mrs. Greenough, of Newton, Mass., a self-possessed and majestic-looking woman.

The question before the court was that of a Mrs. Badger's soundness of mind, she having made a will during her last sickness. Mr. Webster, who had been retained by those who were trying to break the will, saw that the testimony of Mrs. Greenough, she being a witness for the opposite side, would have great weight with the jury. He reasoned, therefore, to spoil her evidence if he could.

He began his cross-examination by putting a certain question, which Mrs. Greenough commenced to answer by saying, "I believe."

"We don't want to know what you believe, madam," roared Webster; "we want to hear what you know."

"That was what I was about to say," replied Mrs. Greenough, going right on with a clear answer to the question. Again and again Mr. Webster, seeing the effect of her evidence upon court and jury, tried to embarrass her.

At length, irritated by his failure to rattle the self-possessed witness, he sprang to his feet, drew out his snuff-box, took a pinch, and, holding a large laudanum handkerchief to his nose, blew a sonorous blast.

"Mrs. Greenough," he asked, while the report was vibrating, looking brightly at her, "was Mrs. Badger a neat woman?"

"I can't say as to that, sir; she had one very dirty trick."

"What was that?"

"She took snuff."

The court-house shook with peals of laughter from judge, jury, bar and spectators.

What is Mythology?

On the one hand, philosophy has shown that a myth is an attempt to explain some natural phenomenon by endowing with human feelings and capacities the senseless factors in the phenomenon, as when the ancient Hindoo explained a thunder-storm as the smiting of Vritra by the unerring shafts of Indra. On the other hand, a brief survey of barbaric superstitions has shown how uneducated man, by the best use he could make of his rude common sense has invariably come to regard all nature as peopled with supra-human entities shaped after the general pattern of humanity. Thus is suggested a natural mode of genesis for the personification of which mythology is made up.

As the Moslem camel-driver regards the deadly snake as a malignant demon, so we need not wonder that the Greeks in pre-historic times should have personified the wind as Hermes, or the sun as an unerring archer, or an unwearying traveler, or an invincible hero. When we know that some people believe pots and kettles to have souls that live hereafter, there is not much difficulty in understanding how other people may have deified the blue sky as the sire of gods and men.

We see, moreover, that the personifying stories are not parables or allegories, but sober explanations of natural phenomena. Where we have recourse to some elaborate scientific theory, the ancient was content with telling a myth. It is only after ages of philosophizing that it begins to seem plausible to regard the clouds as masses of watery vapor suspended in the atmosphere, or the moon as a great planetary body covered with extinct volcanoes. In primitive times it was much simpler to call the cloud a rock, or a huge bird, or a Centaur, and to burn incense to the moon as the chaste goddess Artemis of the silver bow.

Thus the study of mythology, when pursued on the wide scale indicated in the present paper, throws light of no uncertain character on the thoughts and mental habits of primitive men, as well as on countless superstitious beliefs and customs which have survived in relatively high stages of culture. And perhaps there is no better evidence of the profoundly scientific character of contemporary scholarship than the pains which it is taking to investigate methodically the legends and sayings which formerly were either thought unworthy of serious study, or were treated as subjects for idle and arbitrary speculation.—John Fiske in Atlantic.

A Wise Deacon.

"Deacon Wilder, I want you to tell me how you kept yourself and family well the past season, when all the rest of us have been sick so much, and have had the doctors visiting us so often."

"Bro. Taylor, the answer is very easy. I used Hop Bitters in time; kept my family well and saved the doctor bills. Three dollars' worth of it kept us well and able to work all the time. I'll warrant it has cost you and the neighbors one or two hundred dollars apiece to keep sick the same time."

"Deacon, I'll use your medicine hereafter."

Please to send me your address and I will forward to you, free of charge, E. Butterick & Co's catalogue illustrating all the new European and American fashions.

Sheriff's Sale of Land for Taxes.

By virtue of taxes due the Sheriff of Ohio County, Ky., I, or one of my deputies, will, on Monday, November 7, 1881, at the court house door in Hartford, Ky., offer for sale the following lots and tracts of land lying in Ohio county, Ky., on which taxes are due and unpaid. Terms of sale cash in hand. The purchaser is entitled to 30 per cent. interest on his money until he redeems in two years.

The amount of taxes due as set out on each list includes levy, costs of advertising and commission for selling, which increases the amount considerably:
